Further Race Halt Sought

The town will take further court action against West Andover property owners who have allowed use of their land for Sunday pony races.

The selectmen have asked Town Counsel Alfred L. Daniels to seek an injunction in Supreme Court against the Disbrow family, 259 Chandler Road, on whose property the Middlesex Pony Trotting Association has conducted races on Sundays in the past.

The town sought an injunction in Superior Court after the races were conducted on a Sunday afternoon in May. The Superior Court denied the injunction.

The town contends that no further activity should take place pending the appeal of the sponsoring organization which is awaiting action at the District Court level.

The association, which conducted races there last year, petitioned the zoning board of appeals for permission to continue their activity at the Chandler Road site.

The petition was denied and the organization decided to appeal the decision, which now can be done at the District Court level. While the appeal was presented to the court some time ago, it is not expected to be heard for some time, possibly not until the fall session.

After the Middlesex group conducted races on a Sunday afternoon in May, the town asked town counsel to seek an injunction to REFRESHING AND REWARDING. One of the highlights of the town's Fourth of July celebration was a watermelon eating contest. The event was one of several conducted as part of the holiday observance held at the playstead under the direction of the Andover Service club.

Holiday Program Proves Successful

The annual Fourth of July observance brought hundreds to the Playstead Tuesday for an afternoon and evening of festive activity.

Band concerts, varied contests and exhibits captured the attention of the townspeople and visitors as the Andover Service Club again conducted the holiday program for the town.

Based on the number of frankfurts consumed and gallons of tonic dispensed, the program surpassed that of a year ago in success.

John D. Lewis, chairman of the committee reports all events were well received.

Among the popular contests conducted this year, was the watermelon eating event, which drew a good response and proved to be both appetizing, and refreshing for winners and losers both.

Selectmen To Get Dump Information

Further information relative to the choosing of a new dump site is expected to be presented to the selectmen at their meeting Monday night.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin, reports that he and Public Works Director Robert McQuade, have been working on compiling further information relative to the two recommended sites and expect to be ready to present additional facts to the board Monday.

Austin said that answers to questions raised relative to the Lowell Junction and Woburn Street locations by residents and municipal officials are being sought as the selectmen proceed toward making a recommendation to the town.

Included in the information being prepared by the selectmen are cost factors of the two sites. One appraisal of both parcels has been obtained and another is awaited the manager said.

The Lowell Junction property is in an industrial zone, the Woburn Street, or Cyr-Cronin gravel pit area, is classed residential.

The appraisal figures are not as yet available, the manager reports, but it is expected that the cost of Lowell Junction will be much higher than the Woburn Street location.

While the selectmen are working on the matter, another municipal board is also examining the issue, the finance committee.

The FinCom has been reviewing the status of the present dump and the plans for a new sanitary landfill closely, since they will be a governing factor in the matter when it is presented to the town meeting in October.

Since money will be involved and the October session is a special town meeting, the FinCom must approve the matter before it can be considered.

FinCom Chairman Frank Byrne and his group have visited both locations with DPW Director McQuade and have also reviewed information available from Town Manager Austin.

According to present plans, the selectmen will make a recommendation to the town at the October meeting on a specific site. An alternate site will also be on the warrant for the voters to act upon, should the majority not go along with the board.

The voters will also decide on whether the town should

Lack Of Patrolmen List Delays Promotion

Appointment of a third lieutenant to the police department is being delayed pending establishment of a civil service list for appointment of patrolmen.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin said this week, that while a list has become certified for promotion of a sergeant to the lieutenant vacancy, there is no established list for patrolmen as yet.

The manager said he and Police Chief David L. Nicoll have agreed to wait for such a list, before making any promotions within the department.

Austin explained that the town has an obligation to appoint some additional patrolmen to implement the department's new work schedule, which provides for four days on duty and two days off. The new schedule is part of the collective bargaining agreement reached between the town and the police last year.

The manager said that only provisional appointments could be made at this time, and it is difficult to obtain persons who would be interested in taking an appointment, leaving a job, without the assurance of permanent appointment.

Too, the manager stated, the town would be naming a person and training him, without assurance that he would be eligible for permanent appointment.

Several Applicants For Post

The new administrative position in the school system may not be filled until after the first half of the school year has been completed.

Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert, superintendent of schools, reported this week that several applications for the new post, dealing with secondary education, have been received.

The superintendent said he now feels that he will make the new post effective probably in February.

With the vacation period now in effect, it is difficult to gather all the educational administrators to go over the position effectively at this time, the superintendent said.

He also would like time to go over the post before filling it, he said.

There are four local applicants seeking the new position of assistant superintendent and numerous applicants from outside the system.

It will take time to review and interview all applicants, Seifert noted, thus moving the starting date off until possibly February.

Vaughn Clapp, who has been assistant superintendent, has been assigned new duties, dealing with personnel in the school system, as part of the school department's administrative restructuring.

New CO-OP Floor New Store Layout

In a few days, a fundamental improvement in the CO-OP's renewal program will unfold. Both the floor and the store layout will be modernized.

Our contractors are going to apply seven consecutive coats of finish to give us a superb seamless floor, with colored chips, from wall to wall.

To accomplish this, we will have to clear the floor completely, starting Saturday noon. By next Wednesday morning, we will have a bright and sparkling floor for you. See the adjoining column regarding closing.

Even more significant is an improved store layout. We will have enlarged departments, new departments, wider aisles. Flow-through for our shoppers will be easier.

There are still more improvements coming. All are designed to give this centrally located, consumer-owned store more convenient shopping and parking facilities to please every discriminating buyer.

ACT Plans Theater Workshops

The Andover Community Theatre (ACT) has planned three theatre workshops during July and August for its members and others interested in becoming more familiar with amateur theatre work.

The first workshop is on stage make-up and will be conducted by Shirley Belisle, who has had a great deal of experience with community theatre make-up. It begins on Friday, July 7, at 8 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Kordos, 8 Gleason St.

Mrs. JoJayne Swift will be conducting a workshop on Acting Techniques. She has had a lot of experience in various types of theatre. This workshop is intended for those who know little or nothing about acting in a community theatre -- from try-outs to stage presence. The first session of this workshop will be on Monday, July 10, at 8 p.m. at her home, 6 Timothy Drive.

The third workshop will provide actual acting experience in a one-act play. Miss Pat Prentice, a teacher at East Junior High, will be directing the one-act farce, "A Mad Breakfast," for those who would like to try acting first-hand. Since this is intended as a workshop, the play will not be presented publicly.

but plans will be made to take it to hospitals, rest homes, etc. The first session of this workshop will be on Tuesday, July 11, at 7:30 p.m. at Pat's on 73 Elm St., North Andover.

Anyone interested in community theatre work is welcome to participate in any of the workshops at no charge. Further information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Pat Doran or Mrs. Betty Kordos.

Fourth

Horse Club conducted a horse show during the afternoon in Memorial Park and the Andover Artists Guild presented an art exhibit as part of the holiday program.

The calliope, patrolling the town throughout the afternoon, called attention to the events. Booths for the sale of tickets for the various events were busy throughout the afternoon as families took advantage of the old time prices for refreshments and events.

Capping off the program was the presentation by the always popular Clan MacPherson band and a brilliant display of fireworks.

The playstead and the streets surrounding the area were crowded for the final events of the day.

Attesting to the popularity and the success of the program was a new resident to the community who arrived here from the mid-west a few days ago and called the TOWNSMAN office Wednesday morning to report how much the family had enjoyed their first Fourth in Andover.

Dairy Coops Consolidate

Yankee Milk, Inc., 124 Haverhill St., Andover, a new dairy cooperative resulting from the consolidation of the three major dairy cooperatives in the New England milkshed, became a reality when papers were signed at the Highway Motor Hotel this past week in Concord, N.H. Signing for Consolidated Milk Producers Association of Connecticut was President Louis Longo of Glastonbury. President W. Sherman Varney, Turner Center, Maine, signed for the New England Milk Producers' Association.

United Farmers of New England joined the other two when Yankee Milk, Inc., purchased the assets of that cooperative as its first official act. Seavey Piper, Troy, Maine, president of United Farmers, signed the purchase agreement with Yankee Milk.

During the interim period, reorganization plans will go forward looking toward confirmation by the delegate body at the first annual meeting.

The Boards of Directors of the three cooperatives in the consolidation will sit as Yankee Milk's board for the interim period.

Pooling the facilities of the three cooperatives, Yankee Milk anticipates adjustments in operations that eventually will lead to efficiencies, savings, better services to members, and improved milk handling all along the line.

difficulties that change sometimes visits on those involved.

Mr. Fisher emphasized that while Yankee Milk, Inc., has been organized by the three major dairy cooperatives in the milkshed, the door is open for all producer cooperatives to join and add their strength for the general well-being of all dairy farmers.

Lee Aboard Square Rigger

Coast Guard Cadet William J. Lee, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Lee, Sr. of 7 Longwood Drive, is a crewmember aboard the square-rigged sailing ship "Eagle."

The Eagle is scheduled to visit Mobile, Ala., Galveston, Texas, and New Orleans on this, her first cruise of the summer. Cadets on board stand a wide variety of watches and receive training in all aspects of shipboard operations.

Originally called the "Horst

FHA IMPROVEMENT LOAN

As one anonymous sage aptly put it, "Whenever you finally make ends meet -- somebody moves the ends." This is often the case with home improvements or repair.

Where do you get the money for major repairs or remodeling? One likely source to consider is an FHA "Title I" property improvement loan. Under Title I, you can borrow up to $5,000 for a contracted or do-it-yourself project, provided it makes your home basically more useful and livable. Interest rates vary from 8.83% to 10.75%, depending on the amount and length of the loan.

Not all banks, savings and loan associations, and credit unions handle FHA-insured loans, but you can get help in finding institutions that do by contacting the nearest FHA

Playground Tourney Underway

Indian Ridge Playground opened the annual Andover Playground Soccer League with a 1-0 victory over Central. Dave Mirasola's goal with first under five minutes to play broke up the scoreless deadlock.

In the Softball and Kickball League, West Playground smothered Recreation Park 23-13 and 8-0. Chris Doherty hurled a sharp one-hitter for the winners in the second game as his teammates backed his performance with a sixteen hit attack.

The Field Hockey League also opened its season Thursday with the Shawsheen Playground Seniors defeating Ballardvale 3-2 in sudden death overtime. In the second game, Ballardvale's Juniors gained a measure of revenge by edging Shawsheen by an identical 3-2 margin.

Applications are still being accepted for the various sports tournaments. Boys and girls ages 6 - 14, are welcome. Further information and schedules are available at the playgrounds or the Recreation Department office.

Improvement Signs In Economy

Signs of improvement in the Massachusetts economy appeared as unemployment dropped from 201,900 in April to 192,400 in May (from 7.6 percent to 7.2 percent of the state workforce). Richard C. Gilliland, Director of the Division of Employment Security said that both the number at work and the number out of work are higher than in May 1971 (when the unemployment rate was 7.0 percent) due to a greater growth in the state workforce than in the number of new jobs available.

When seasonal adjustments are made, the adjusted unemployment rates show a long-term climb almost without interruption from a low for the 1960s of 3.8 percent in May 1969 to 5.0 percent in May 1970, to 7.4 percent in May 1971, and to 7.7 percent in May 1972. The current 7.7 percent adjusted rate represents a welcome change of direction from the long-time peak of 7.9 percent reached in April 1972. The corresponding United States rate has held at 5.9 percent for March.

April and May after peaking at 6.1 percent in May and in August of 1971.

The brightening picture was effected by a better than usual gain for the month in nonmanufacturing employment and a smaller than usual increase in the size of the workforce. The manufacturing industries were relatively static with employment edging down by 400 -- less than one tenth of one percent of the 598,500 total employed in manufacturing in April. Overall employment in the durable goods division was slightly up with small gains in fabricated metals, ordnance, and instruments offsetting rather disappointing dips in machinery and electrical machinery, equipment, and supplies. Nondurables dropped 500. Labor disputes were a factor in holding down employment gains in the manufacturing division.

Strength in the nonfactory industries was centered in seasonally expanding sectors like construction, wholesale and retail trade (especially in resort areas and particularly in building supply establishments, eating and drinking places, department stores, establishments dealing with motor vehicles, equipment, and gasoline), and service establishments (especially hotels, motels, and a host of outdoor sports, amusements, and recreational activities).

Unemployment declined in all eight of the major metropolitan areas, although all had unemployment rates of six percent or higher. The Boston area with 6.1 percent unemployed was lowest while Lowell and Lawrence - Haverhill both had rates above 9 percent. Only Brockton and Lowell areas had lowered their unemployment rates in the past year: Lowell because of a net drop in the workforce of 1600 while employment remained nearly unchanged; Brockton because of a rise in area employment.

John Kuzma
In Organ Hall
Recital

An opportunity to hear the old Boston Music Hall organ will be afforded on July 12, when John Kuzma will present a recital at 8:30 p.m. at the Methuen Memorial Music Hall.

The recital includes major compositions by masters of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. Each work is particularly well suited to the combination of the tonal resources of the instrument and the acoustics of the Music Hall.

Mr. Kuzma is a native of Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1968 he was graduated with distinction from the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y. where he studied with David Craighead, Russell Saunders and Robert Noehren.
During the academic year 1968-69, he studied as a Fulbright Scholar with Finn Vedero in Copenhagen. While in Denmark, he gave recitals in Aalborg, Hvidovre and Copenhagen. Mr.
Kuzma holds a Master of Music degree from the University of Illinois. He is presently organist-choirmaster of St. Paul's Church in San Diego.

His program consists of:
Praeludium und Fuge uber
B-A-C-H - Franz Liszt; Sonata
I - Paul Hindemith; Sonata II -
Felix Mendelssohn; and Zweite Sonate, Op. 60 - Max Reger.

An interesting sidelight of the recital program concerns the composer of the first work to be performed, Franz Liszt. In 1856, Dr. Jabez Baxter Upham, president of the Boston Music Association, toured Europe studying

Harry N. Snook, vice president of Western Electric, was elected a director of the Baystate Corporation. Formerly a director of the Merrimack Valley National Bank, Western's ranking New England executive was recently elected chairman of the board of the associated industries of Massachusetts.

examples of the work of the major organ builders of the day. Dr.
Upham's task was to select a builder and contract for an organ of the finest quality and appearance for the Boston Music Hall, then only four years old. Among the noted musicians of the day that Dr. Upham consulted with was Franz Liszt. Although Liszt recommended Landerkast, a builder different from Walcker who was finally selected, his advice to Dr. Upham may have had considerable influence in the early planning stages of the instrument.

Admission to the recital is two dollars at the door, fifty cents for children. Sustaining memberships, providing free admission to all concerts sponsored by the Music Hall, are offered at $15 for individuals, $20 for husband and wife, and $25 for corporate memberships.

Allen G. Brown will be heard at Methuen on July 19.

Scientists
Get Grants
For Research Salad

Three area scientists were named by the Northeast Chapter Massachusetts Heart Association to receive research grants during the 1971-72 fiscal year, Kirwan
T. MacMillan, M.D., President of the Northeast Chapter has announced.

The recipient of the Chapter's newly instituted George A. De-Moulas Fellowship, to be awarded annually in memory of the Chapter's late Chairman of the Board, is Roberta G. Williams, M.D., who is researching at the Children's Hospital Medical Center, Boston. Dr. Williams received her training at Duke University and the University of North Carolina School of Medicine. Her study, "Use of Ultrasound in Congenital Heart Disease," will involve the visualization of the heart by the use of ultrasound.
Such techniques have been adapted to adult cardiology, but not applied to infants. It is hoped that a non-invasive method can be developed to aid in the diagnosis of congenital heart disease in these small patients.

Alexander P. Fabiato, M.D., Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, was awarded a Grant-in-Aid for his research on "Excitation-contraction coupling in single cardiac cells." The proposed investigation is a highly sophisticated study of the events which control cardiac contraction. Dr.
Fabiato proposes to delve down to the level of the minute components which make up the individual muscle cell. To be measured will be the effects of various drugs, such as digitalis, and other chemicals on the contracting units within the muscle cells. The investigation attempts to explore, at the deepest levels now possible, the mechanisms of heart muscle.

The final Grant-in-Aid was awarded to Martin J.
Kushmerick, Ph.D., of the Harvard Medical School who is doing research on "The Chemical Balance in Muscle Energetics." Dr.
Kushmerick is an Assistant Professor of Physiology and is acknowledged as one of the very bright investigators in the field of muscle energetics and the heart.

"These awards, made possible through volunteer contributions to the Heart Fund Campaign in February, enable our most gifted scientists to search for answers to complicated problems of the heart and circulatory diseases," Dr. MacMillan added.

Navy Seaman Recruit James R. McCormack, husband of the former Miss Patricia F.
Brouillard of 507 S. Main St., has graduated from recruit training at the Naval Training Center in Great Lakes.

Salad Season
Arrives

Summer is salad season
according to the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture, and Massachusetts grown lettuce continues to lead the best buy list this week. Despite the heavy rains, Boston, Iceberg, Romaine and Salad Bowl lettuce are excellent buys at produce counters and roadside stands.

To lend color and taste to your salad, add some tangy radishes and mild onion flavored scallions, also good buys. To lend a fancy touch, make radish roses. Make several vertical slices from the crown of the radish to give the appearance of "petals." Place the cut radishes in cold water in the refrigerator for a couple of hours. They will begin to open slightly for a very pleasant appearance on top of any salad.

Another colorful touch is to slice cold, hard-boiled eggs and crown your salad with them. This is especially delicious when using one of the cheese dressings such as Roquefort.

Delicious Massachusetts sweet corn will be a little late this year because of the heavy rain.
Early supplies should begin to appear near the end of July.

If you are growing your own garden, the MDA recommends an application of fertilizer to perk up your crops. The rain has leached much of the nutrients away from the roots and soil. The same applies to your lawn, flower garden and shrubs.
All plants need water to grow,
but, enough is enough!

Andover Holds To Fourth Spot

By Rick Harrison

The Andover Babe Ruth baseball team reached the midway point of the 1972 season with a 7-4 record, splitting a pair of games last week to remain in fourth place as the Greater-Lawrence Babe Ruth League takes its Fourth of July holiday layoff.

The locals pounded South Lawrence East, 8-3, to extend their winning streak through four straight games.

But first-place Tower Hill put an end to the string of victories by slamming Andover, 8-1.

Another game against North Lawrence was postponed because of wet grounds, and it will be made up at a later date.

Although Andover is in fourth place, it trails Tower Hill by just a game-and-a-half. The leaders are 8-2, while North Andover stands 7-2, North Lawrence 6-2 and Andover 7-4.

The team will be idle until next Tuesday night when it faces Prospect Hill at the Hayden-Schofield Playstead. On Wednesday Andover plays host to North Andover in a key contest.

Meanwhile, the GL All-Stars passed their first test in the District 15 portion of the National Babe Ruth Tournament when they trampled the Tewksbury Stars 12-2 last Saturday.

Andover players Dave Mosher (third base), Keith Verrette (shortstop and second base) and Steve Fabiani (leftfield) all saw considerable action. Verrette contributed a seventh-inning single to the attack, and Fabiani barely missed an extra-base hit when his long fly fell just foul down the leftfield line.

Winning pitcher Fred Simm of Methuen fired a one-hitter and fanned 12. Dave Robinson (No. Lawrence) had a two-run homer. Jim Loffredo (South Lawrence East) tripled, Simm doubled and Rick Redman (No. Andover) had a pair of hits.

Andover 8, So. Law. East 3 -- Andover unloaded a 14-hit attack against 13-year-old "rookie" pitcher Chuck Prescott en route to the win.

Dave Mosher chalked up the pitching victory for Andover, lifting his record to 3-1 with a three-hitter. He walked four and struck out three.

The winners, who built up an 8-0 lead after five innings, jumped ahead 2-0 in the first.

Keith Verrette started the rally with a two-out single. He went to second on an infield error and scored on Jeff Winters' RBI single. Winters then stole second and scored on Mosher's opposite-field RBI single.

Andover boosted the advantage to 3-0 in the second. Steve Fabiani led with an infield single, and he raced all the way to third on a two-base throwing error during the same play.

Fabiani later dented the plate on John Lyons' infield out, the first of two RBIs for Lyons.

The victors sent seven batters to the plate and upped the lead to 5-0 in the fourth.

Fabiani reached on an error with one down. Successive bunt singles by Steve Galvin and Glenn Lefebvre, along with a double steal and John Lyons' RBI single, accounted for the two runs.

Thom Lawler then reached base on another single, but the inning ended when the following batter bounced into a double-play. Seven more hitters paraded to the plate in the fifth, as Andover netted three markers to make it 8-0.

Keith Verrette led the frame with a solid single to left. He stole second and scored on Dave Mosher's RBI single. Fabiani walked and Steve Galvin grounded into a force play erasing Fab at second.

A throwing error by Prescott allowed Mosher to score, and Joe Pasquale's run-scoring single chased Galvin home with the final run.

SLE, shutout on one hit for the first five stanzas, notched two runs in the sixth against Mosher. Bill Rourke walked, Prescott singled and both came home on a throwing error.

The losers pushed across another tally in the seventh. With one out Phil Dutton and Jim Mathorn drew back-to-back walks. Dutton scored on Bill Rourke's single to leftfield. Mosher settled down to get the next two batters.

Andover's only unproductive threat came in the top of the seventh. Mosher and Pasquale singled and Fabiani walked to load the bases with one out. But Joe Grillo and Dave Rindone popped out to end the inning.

Mosher led all Andover batters with three hits. Keith Verrette and Pasquale lashed two safeties apiece while solo bingles were added by Glenn Verrette, Steve Galvin, Thom Lawler, John Lyons, Jeff Winters, Steve Fabiani and Glenn Lefebvre.

Glenn Verrette at first base, Steve Fabiani at third and Keith Verrette at shortstop were defensive standouts.

Tower Hill 8, Andover 1 -- Andover bounced to a 1-0 lead after the first inning, but Tower Hill tied it in the third and exploded for six runs in the fourth and fifth to win going away.

Kevin Gearin limited Andover to five singles and walked only one to pick up the mound triumph.

Keith Verrette, who retired the first six batters easily and appeared headed for an excellent effort on the hill, was ruined by walks and four Andover errors.

Steve Galvin relieved in the fifth and hurled two-and-two-thirds innings of two-hit ball.

Galvin led the locals' first inning with a sharp single to center. Glenn Verrette was safe on a fielder's choice, and he later took second on a wild pitch and third on an infield error.

Glenn scored a few minutes later when Tower Hill tried to nail Jeff Winters stealing, and the throw bounded into center-field.

ground bowling for children registered at Summer playgrounds. Bowling will be offered every Monday, beginning July 10, at the Andover Recreation Lanes. The bowling hours will be 1:15 p.m. through approximately 3 p.m. Children will return to their respective playgrounds at the conclusion of the bowling program and may leave for home from there.

Bike hikes will be organized to safely transport the children to the bowling lanes. Instructors will accompany the children to provide proper supervision and guidance. The instructors will assist the children with bowling techniques and scoring.

A permission slip is required from each participant. The slips will be issued on the playgrounds and collected by the playground Supervisor. A fee of $1 per child will be collected at the bowling center by the bowling alley staff. The charge includes three games and a pair of bowling shoes. The bowling program will conclude Aug. 14.

Wine Wisdom

by

John Mead

WINE CORK VS. METAL CAP

Many of our American wines come with easy-off metal caps. But high quality wines both here and abroad still come with corks - the better the wine, the longer the cork. It would seem that metal, twist-off caps would be more practical - so why do corks play such a major role in winemaking?

The cork, when cut to shape and plugged in, allows minuscule amount of air to enter the bottle. This allows the wine to age slowly to perfection. If the cork is not kept constantly moistened by the wine itself laying on its side, air would swiftly seep into the bottle and turn the liquid to vinegar.

About half the world's supply of cork comes from the sun-washed cork oak groves of Portugal. Strict laws permit the hand-stripping of the thick bark only once every nine years. A good cork oak may attain an age of 200 years.

Conserving Is Helpful

Every year this country spends about $4.5 billion to dispose of 270 million tons of trash. . . an average of 5.3 pounds of trash per day for every man, woman and child in the United States.

As the local dump grows higher and higher, the local people start wondering whether it's really worth the trouble to try, as individuals, to cut down a little on the trash they create at home. They wonder if their little bit of saving, their little bit of recycling, will help.

It doesn't do everything -- but it does help.

Concern, Inc., a consumer-oriented conservation organization, suggests that there are three ways that individuals can make a small valley in the mountainous problem of trash disposal:

-- Reduce at the source by what you buy.
-- Reuse and recycle as much as possible.
-- Work for effective disposal systems.

The first two are effective ways of helping by changes in habits of buying, using and disposing of material in one's own household. The third cannot be done by one individual alone, but by working with the local, state and federal government, people can see that political action is taken to develop new techniques of disposing of and recycling waste materials.

Here are some ways an individual can help reduce trash at the source:

-- Cut down on disposable items. Use returnable bottles, cloth products instead of paper napkins, towels, tissues and diapers. Avoid plates, glasses and eating utensils that must be discarded after one use.

-- Cut down on items which are overpackaged. Buy in bulk. (It's cheaper, too.) Don't buy overpackaged materials. Eliminate extra bags and boxes by using a string bag or canvas tote bag to carry home your purchases.

-- Buy thoughtfully, and throw away reluctantly. Think of the disposal problem and effects on the environment of any item you purchase.

Individuals can also help by reusing and recycling as much as possible:

-- Return those returnable bottles.

-- Return coat hangers to your cleaner.

-- Resue old envelopes and use both sides of stationery.

-- Use old jars for storing leftovers or keeping your supply of nails, tacks, nuts and bolts in order.

-- Share magazines with friends or give them to institutions.

-- Give reusable clothing, toys, china, appliances and furniture to charities who resell them. (You may claim a tax deduction.)

-- Use your local recycling and reclamation centers for newspapers, bottles and cans. If there is no recycling center near you, consider starting one.

-- Create consumer demand for recycled paper products in your own community. Consumer demand for recycled paper products will both increase the quality and lower the cost of these products, while reducing excessive waste.

Environment Quality Index Interesting

Where does the world really stand, ecologically? Are things really as bad as some people say?

In its first World EQ (for Environmental Quality) Index, the National Wildlife Federation, in cooperation with the United Nations Conference on the Human Environment, has attempted to answer these questions.

The EQ Index tried to get the best collective judgment of global experts on where man stands today in conservation of water, wildlife, land, minerals, air and population. "And to project what will happen if man continues pell-mell in the direction and at the pace he's now going."

Here's how the EQ Index sees things:

Water -- Situation: Poor. Outlook: Uncertain. We're dipping into underground reserves. Pollution is increasing. People must learn it is good economics to clean up water -- and keep it clean. (99 percent of the water on earth is salt or frozen, and the rest is unevenly distributed. Many rivers flow into the sea as open sewers, polluting coastal and estuarine areas that are the source of 20 percent of the world's protein supply.)

Wildlife -- Situation: Losing on wide front. Outlook: Not bright; people must be taught the importance of wildlife in man's future. Most nations need research, legislation, and more wildlife preserves. (There are 922 endangered species -- some, like the big cats, endangered by fashion, but more threatened by habitat destruction.)

Land -- Situation: Bad. Outlook: Grim. Amount of food-producing land per capita is shrinking. Green Revolution offers some hope. Real hope: bring population in line with land resources. (Most of the earth is too hot, too cold, too wet or too dry for food crops.)

Minerals -- Situation: Fair, for now. Outlook: Not good. World urgently needs to recycle all metals. . . to explore for and conserve fossil fuels. . . and to step up nuclear energy research. (There are not enough mineral resources to support 3.7 billion people at a standard of living equal to Western Europe, at least not without important new breakthroughs in technology.)

Air -- Situation: Bad in big cities. Outlook: May get worse. Technology is available to control pollution. But, money is needed -- plus recognition that clean air is an asset. (Air pollution is more than ugly and smelly -- it does actual, measurable damage to health, materials, vegetation, domestic animals and wildlife.)

Population -- Situation: Zooming population growth burdens every facet of the World EQ Index. Solution: Population control -- or some dramatic, but unexpected, breakthrough. (The big question is: How many people, at what standard of living, can Earth support?)

Is there hope? Yes -- but it requires action, not just words.

Introducing the EQ Index, Maurice Strong, secretary-general of the United Nations Conference on the Human Environment held in Stockholm this month, said, "At this juncture of human history, we must affirm the physical unity and interdependence of the biosphere's diverse elements, and realize that we hold the planet in trust for future generations. . . we need to achieve an international and communal sense of urgency that we can translate into dynamic global action."

Youth Corps To Conduct Program

The Greater Lawrence Neighborhood Youth Corps has been selected by the U.S. Department of Labor for the second consecutive year to conduct an innovative pilot program. Termed VEPS - Vocational Exploration in the Private Sector - the program is designed to offer career interest exploration and work experience in accordance with the students educational program and the private business community.

Under the terms of VEPS, a private enterprise may hire a young person, and have the NYC pay half his salary. The student is paid an hourly rate of $1.75 with the employer and the NYC sharing the costs. The NYC also provides the necessary workman's compensation during that period in which it is assuming the costs. The only restriction on the prospective employee is that he or she be an area high school student between the ages of 16 and 18, and that he be a member of a family either receiving public assistance or classified as having a low income according to federal poverty criteria.

There are presently 9 U.S. cities conducting a VEPS program. In addition to Lawrence they are: Haverhill; Columbus, Ohio; Flint, Michigan; Fort Worth, Texas; Norfolk, Va.; Pittsburgh, Pa.; Salt Lake City, Utah; and San Bernardino, Calif.

The program objectives of VEPS are comparable to those of the regular NYC in-school program. Briefly stated, these objectives are:

1. To provide youth with the incentive to remain in school and earn a high school diploma.
2. To facilitate a smooth transition upon high school graduation into the full time work force.
3. To provide youth with part time employment while in school.

However, the basic premise of VEPS differs from the regular NYC in-school program. Whereas in the past, NYC programs have been conducted in conjunction with non-profit organizations, VEPS was created specifically for the purpose of working with the private, profit-making sector. This is what makes VEPS unique, for should it prove feasible, it may change the basic concept of the neighborhood Youth Corps in the future.

The NYC presently has funds to conduct the year long VEPS program for 40 students. The students will be allowed to work for 40 hours during the summer months and on a part time basis during the school year.

For more information on the VEPS program call 686-9352 and ask for Kathy Sherlock or Jeanne LaChance.

The Neighborhood Youth Corps is sponsored by the Greater Lawrence Community Action Council, Inc.

Beacon Hill Observations

By Bill Kirtz

The man in charge of selling industry on the idea of moving to Massachusetts feels that although "we've turned the corner and we're in an upward business trend, we've got to provide more financial help than in other states."

Roger L. Jewett, state director of the Bureau of Commercial and Industrial Development, says that four of every five companies interested in relocating or establishing a plant here want some sort of financial incentive.

He backs pending bills to boost tax credits for industry, to phase out the corporate excise tax and to broaden areas of bond financing as ways to help Massachusetts out of its economic doldrums.

Mr. Jewett directs a team of researchers, economists and field workers who can come up with answers to such industry problems as an area's proximity to a railway line, a site's load-bearing characteristics, the availability of unskilled workers.

He's particularly interested in matching communities to industrial parks, noting that six companies now seek such sites in Massachusetts.

Under home rule laws, communities have the right to screen out undesirable industries, he says as he explains a new law authorizing municipal bond issues to finance such parks so that a company can get 5 percent financing instead of the usual 7 to 9 percent.

Just three weeks ago, the state Industrial Finance Board approved a half-million dollar bond issue by the town of Walpole to build a machinery building plant, which will eventually open up 105 jobs for the community, and a $450 thousand bond issue in Mansfield which will open up 42 new jobs in a printing ink plant.

How much new business the state can attract will eventually hinge on how much venture capital it can provide, Mr. Jewett feels.

"Money rates are fluctuating now more than ever," he says. "There's lots of money in the banks but it's hard to find it at good terms."

So as secretary of the state's Industrial Finance Board, he's concentrating on ways to help communities and industry cooperate on projects.

What kind of cooperation? Mr. Jewett is convinced that, for one thing, companies should get help in adding anti-pollution devices. They need this to stay competitive, he says. "Otherwise, it's just an added cost."

In what he hopes is a forerunner of other solid waste facilities, the town of Saugus has voted to establish an industrial development financing authority to finance a disposal plant. A private corporation will receive and dispose of solid wastes from Saugus and other area communities, and, as an added benefit, will sell live steam to the General Electric Company's Lynn plant.

If the state Senate okays two pending bills, communities will also be able to finance air and water pollution abatement facilities via municipal bonding.

From helping companies find a place with natural gas near a train line to convincing them that their key employees will be able to find reasonably priced housing, Mr. Jewett travels throughout the country persuading industries they should move here.

"We're the sales arm of the state," he says. "It's our job to make industry grow."

Morse Group Pledges Aid To Cronin

The Morse Committee, which for 12 years has played a key role in the campaigns of former Cong. F. Bradford Morse, has endorsed Congressional Candidate Paul W. Cronin of Andover for the Republican nomination for the Fifth Congressional District.

Announcement of the endorsement came after a meeting with Cronin and his staff and key members of the Morse Committee.

Lawrence Braverman, Bedford selectman and manager of Morse's last campaign, and Daniel A. Cronin of Concord, committee chairman, said the committee felt Cronin was the man best able to continue the traditions established by Morse.

"We pledged collectively and individually to work for the nomination and eventual election of Cronin to the Fifth Congressional seat left vacant when Cong. Morse accepted his important United Nations post last month," stressed Braverman.

He noted that while there have been changes in the district since Morse was first elected, "There certainly is no change in the need for good government."

"We feel that Cronin, on both record and experience, is the best man to serve in Congress to represent the Fifth District."

Braverman said that one of the key issues of the campaign will be the economy. "Cronin has proven that not only does he have the solid experience so vital in recognizing the needs of the Fifth Congressional District, but that he has a proven record on how to help solve difficult problems that are part of the area."

"His record is attracting new industry to his district while serving as a state representative is unmatched by any of the candidates running for the Fifth District post."

Cronin said he was pleased and honored to receive the endorsement of the Morse Committee made up of key Republicans and politically active citizens of the 24 communities in the Fifth Congressional District.

Cronin has served in public office since the age of 23 when he became the youngest selectman in Andover's history, serving three years.

He served two terms as a state representative during which he was appointed as the official liaison between Republican Bay State legislators and the Massachusetts Republican congressional delegation.

Cronin has also served as chief assistant to Morse in both Washington and Massachusetts.

The Insurance Information Institute reports that three-fourths of the fires which occur in American homes are the result of carelessness.

Bridal attendants were Mrs. Jeffrey Applegate and Mrs. Richard Omand, cousins of the bride. Margot Haartz, the bride's niece, was junior attendant.

The attendants wore white linen A-line gowns with Empire waist, trimmed in shades of blue. They carried Colonial bouquets.

Sumner Rulon-Miller, Jr., father of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Sumner Rulon-Miller, III, Patrick Rulon-Miller, brothers of the bridegroom and David Haartz, brother of the bride.

Following a reception at the Lanam Club, the couple left on a wedding trip to the Caribbean.

They will reside at Constitution Hill in Princeton, N.J.

Miss Black To Study In Mexico

Elizabeth T. Black will study in Mexico this summer. She has been accepted at Instituto Cultural Guadalajara, incorporated under Mexican law as a private, non-profit institution of higher education.

The Institute offers the North American student a relevant program of Mexican cultural studies and language. Emphasis is placed on student participation in the Mexican culture and all classes attempt to make use of the surrounding area. Courses are entirely in Spanish and college credits will be earned toward her major in Spanish at Fairleigh Dickinson University.

Miss Black will be living with a host Mexican family for the summer session, and plans to travel throughout the immediate area, which affords the students many educational and cultural opportunities. In addition, she plans to visit Our Cabana in Cuernavaca, one of four World Centers of the Girl Scout organization. She is a registered Young Adult Scout and served on the Selections Committee for national and international opportunities for senior scouts this past year.

Elizabeth is a sophomore at Fairleigh Dickinson University, Rutherford, N.J., where she was recently named to the Dean's list for the second semester, and resides at 7 Sweetbriar Lane.

Education

Modern education, one of our most important and costliest endeavors, is constantly a subject for debate as to the benefits of varied and so-called progressive programs.

This past weekend a Boston television station put forth an all night program dealing with education in all its phases.

It was telecast beginning late in the evening and continuing until about 6 a.m.

The time slot, we think from its initial 11:30 p.m. offering was correctly programmed, since thousands would have been fortunate in having missed it.

It dealt quite heavily in the area of ungradedness, with parents and students informing of their desire to do their own thing by way of obtaining an education.

Frankly, we don't carp at all these new-fangled educational ideas. Progressiveness is wonderful and new methods are always acceptable, provided they produce results.

The underlying theme among the students on the program was freedom from regimentation. Well, a little freedom may be all right, but when a youngster decides the reading program scheduled for that particular day is not his cup of tea, it shouldn't be an occasion for him to take a walk.

Much of this new liberalism has crept into Andover's public school system.

Administrators parade before school committee members outlining programs undertaken in their schools with magnificent results.

One can anticipate that an employee would not attempt to impress his employer with a program failure. But, we have some doubt that all programs are as successful as presented.

Success or failure seems immeasurable, since individual accomplishment can not be judged on a comparative level, under new systems.

The big question would seem to be which system is most advantageous - the liberal or the conservative.

A proper blending of the two might be best.

Commendable

Youngsters at this time of year are filled with exuberance and enterprise, having been caught up with the freedom of summer from the daily grind of studies.

When this enterprise and energy is turned to thoughtful effort, it becomes most commendable, as in the case of the Argilla road youths who conducted a Flea Market to aid the Vendome fund - a drive to assist the families of the nine firefighters killed in a hotel fire in Boston.

The young folks began their efforts soon after the tragedy and were successful in raising a considerable quantity of money to be forwarded to the fund.

To Mark and Leyden Anderson, Jim and David Sherman, John Haugh, Scott Elliott and friends, we say a job well done for their thoughtful, praiseworthy efforts.

Well Done

Our congratulations to the Andover Service club for another excellent job in conducting the town's annual Fourth of July observance.

With the assistance of town forces, the Service club members provided an excellent program on the holiday for young and old alike.

It took considerable effort and planning on the part of John D. Lewis and his committee to make it a success.

The activity started at noon and there was ample recreational opportunities throughout the afternoon and evening hours.

The program was capped off with a brilliant fireworks display.

The idea was conceived by the service club a few years ago when the membership took cognizance of a dearth of holiday activity in Andover.

They sought to remedy the situation, and, after surviving initial difficulties with any such undertaking, have produced an ever-increasing successful program ever since.

For their efforts in providing a safe and enjoyable Fourth again for Andover, congratulations on a job well done.

Off The Top Of The Desk

The firefly season has arrived. We annually receive communication from the Sigma Firefly Scientists club in St. Louis, and this year is no exception.

The difference this year is that the little illuminated bugs have been spotted prior to the receipt of the letter.

The fireflies have been flitting about the premises this past week, no doubt trying to find their way through the rain.

The St. Louis club will provide all information relative to catching the bugs and sending them on to headquarters for research information.

The Fourth of July brought the annual resonance of illegal fireworks as usual.

Despite warnings, the loud reports and in some cases injuries were once again present for the holiday festivities.

In a ball game in Cleveland last week, Red Sox catcher Carlton Fisk was about to take his cuts at the plate when a firecracker went off in the stands with such a bang, that he jumped out of the batter's box.

The explosives were set off in crowded areas, such as carnivals and similar events during the pre-holiday and holiday activities, which was a quite dangerous practice.

Under the heading of it was bound to happen, we note a communication received this past week from a major university.

Seems their computer kicked out some bad information.

The modern, up-to-date machinery, destined to speed up all sorts of work for schools, business, etc., proceeded to mix up the listing of degree recipients, placing such things as graduates of the school of education under the school of nursing, failing to give out master's degrees and completely fouling up the list of graduates of an arts and science department.

In its letter of apology, with accompanying corrections, the school promised "not to use this computer again."

The abnormally heavy rains during June will result in a bumper crop of mosquitoes, ants and other insects for area residents in July and August. It will also mean a late harvest and higher prices for fresh garden crops.

For county farmers crop protection has been almost impossible since sprays are washed off by the rains. Much of the strawberry crop was lost because of the late May frost and now berries rotting before they ripen. Corn is behind schedule and will be late this year. Cucumbers, peppers and tomato crops will also be affected.

The haying operation has been seriously curtailed by rain. Pete Curtis, farm manager at the Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute, says much of hay has been ruined since farmers can not harvest and dry the hay. This will result in a shortage of hay for winter feeding and may force farmers to buy hay from out of state.

What the farmers are hoping for, as well as vacationers, is a couple of weeks of sunshine with good summer heat.

A new, informative 12-page bulletin from the U.S. Department of Agriculture entitled "Transplanting Ornamental Trees and Shrubs" is now available free on request by sending a post card request to Extension Editor, Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute, Haverhill, Mass., 01837. Bulletins and assistance on lawn and garden problems is available to area residents by calling the Institute.

According to the Alden Omnisphere, Monday afternoon, July 10, 1972, a total Solar Eclipse will be viewable from Alaska, The Prince Edward Islands, and Nova Scotia.

Worcester, because it is slightly off the eclipse path, will be able to see about 85 percent of the sun disappear. This is called a partial Solar Eclipse.

The start of the eclipse is scheduled for 3:31:14 p.m. with maximum eclipse occurring at 4:40:27 p.m. and finishing at 5:43:21 p.m. daylight saving time.

The last total Solar Eclipse in the Worcester area occurred on October 2, 1959, while the next one won't be until May 1, 2079. The next partial Solar Eclipse viewable in Worcester will be February 26, 1979.

A new 20 bed Alcoholism Intervention and Detoxification (A.I.D.) Center to serve the needs of the people of the North Shore was dedicated by Governor Francis W. Sargent on Monday, June 26, 1972. The Center is located on Green Street in Lynn.

The Lynn AID Center is the first in the state to be opened under the provisions of the Comprehensive Alcoholism Treatment law passed by the legislature last year. The new law is designed to treat alcoholism as a medically diagnosable disease and to take the person suffering from alcoholism out of the criminal justice system and put them into a system specifically designed to sober him up and begin the rehabilitation process. Massachusetts is one of only five states in the country to have such an enlightened approach to the problem of alcohol abuse and alcoholism.

The Lynn Detoxification facility is sponsored by the North Shore Committee of Alcoholism, a regional coalition of all volunteer planning committee leaders of this committee said, "This new Center is only the beginning of what will be a complete, comprehensive treatment program for problem drinkers on the North Shore." It is an important beginning that was brought about through the efforts of a large number of people.

If you'd like to get around the high cost of living, we have a suggestion: Cut down on the high cost of getting around.

And buy a Volkswagen. It's only $1999* That's around $1000 less than the average amount paid for a new car today. (Leave it in the bank. More's coming.)

A VW saves you hundreds of dollars on upkeep over the years.

It takes pints, not quarts, of oil. Not one iota of antifreeze.

And it gets about 26 miles to the gallon. The average car (thirsty devil that it is) only gets 14.

So the more you drive, the more you save.

And chances are, you'll drive it for years and years. (Since we never change the style, a VW never goes out of style.)

Of course, a VW's not much to look at. So a lot of people buy a big flashy car just to save face.

Try putting that in the bank.

County Candidates At Forum

Candidates for Essex County Commissioner, Treasurer and Register of Deeds will speak at an open public forum on Tuesday, July 11 at 8 p.m. at the McQuade Library auditorium, Merrimack College, North Andover.

The event, co-sponsored by the Democratic Town Committees of Andover and North Andover, is the first in a series of candidates' nights designed to acquaint the electorate with contenders in this year's political contests. The format will consist of short talks by candidates followed by questions from the audience. An informal coffee - and - refreshment period at the close of the meeting will provide the opportunity for face-to-face encounters with candidates.

The following contestants have been invited to speak in the upcoming Tuesday night forum:

County Commissioner: William J. Donovan, Lawrence, incumbent; Daniel J. Burke, Peabody, incumbent; Donald W. Gardner, Jr., Andover, history instructor; R. William Ammon, Lawrence, space program engineer; James F. Waldron, Haverhill, attorney; Norman Bennett, Lynnfield, pharmacist; and James C. Bradley, North Andover, Associate State Commissioner of Education.

County Register of Deeds: Thomas J. Burke, Lawrence, incumbent; Joseph L. Creeley, Lawrence, office manager; and John R. Williams, Andover, real estate and insurance broker.

County Treasurer: Thomas F. Duffy, Lynn, incumbent; and James M. Garvey, Lawrence, senior field accountant for the State Department of Corporation and Taxation.

According to co-chairmen of the meeting, Thomas W. Leavitt, North Andover, and Francis J. Byrne, Andover, the candidates' night series is the first mutual effort by the two Democratic Town Committees to provide voter information services.

Future political forums will include candidates -- or their spokesmen -- for the Presidential, U.S. Senatorial, Congressional and State Representative races.

halt any further activity.

After a hearing in Superior Court, the petition was denied and the selectmen, feeling a decision on the appeal should be rendered before any activity is resumed, requested counsel to seek further relief in Supreme Court.

Atty. Daniels reported Wednesday that no date has been set for a hearing as yet. He has filed the petition with the court and is awaiting the order of notice.

The trotting group has other races scheduled for the Chandler Road location for the season.

At its initial meet, the group cancelled the remaining races and program, after police and town counsel were called to the scene.

The appeals board denied the petition for a special permit based on the noise, traffic factor, as well as the activity being in a residentially zoned section of the town.

initiate refuse collection as part of the new sanitary landfill operation.

The present landfill site has been ordered closed by October, a matter the town is acting upon, seeking state approval of an extension of the Chandler Road operation until a decision is made on a new dump.

Promotion

A civil service examination was held earlier this year, but challenged in the courts, ruled invalid and another examination has to be set up.

Austin said that he had checked with civil service last week and that no definite date has been set for a new examination.

Three sergeants have been certified for promotion to the lieutenant vacancy.

They are Lloyd Belbin, 213 Haggetts Pond Road; James Johnson, 10 Burlington St. and Jacob Jacobson, 91 River Road.

The position pays $22 1/2 a week. Following the appointment, a patrolman will be raised to the rank of sergeant from an established list and a permanent patrolman named, in addition to the patrolmen needed to implement the new work schedule.

William Booth founded the Salvation Army in London, July 5, 1865.
